A BIG CHINESE MASS MEETING.

They Protest Against the Passing of Proposed Exclusion Laws.

STRONG SPEECHES MADE AGAINST SUCH ACTION.

Many Prominent Celestials Have Something to Say About the Government's Law—The Chinese Theatre Crowded With Enthusiastic People—The Speeches Made and the Resolutions Passed.

All roads are said to lead to Rome, but there was a branch line running to the Chinese Theater last evening. Long before 6 o'clock, the time set for the mass-meeting, the building was literally packed with a mass of Chinamen. Every available inch of space was in use, and the galleries were so full that it seemed as though they must give way beneath the crushing weight of humanity that crowded them.

On the stage, seats were arranged for the more prominent Chinese residents, and about forty of these were present. It is a small estimate to say that 3000 Celestials were there.

They were not satisfied with crowding the house to its utmost capacity. They stood on the outside, in all the pouring rain, and strained their ears to catch portions of the speeches. The crowd reached almost out to King street.

The theater was partially decorated for the occasion with Chinese flags. Four tables were arranged for the accommodation of the speakers and the press representatives.

Among those present were Commercial Agent Goo Kim, Vice-Commissioner Wong Kwai, and most of the prominent merchants of the city. The meeting was opened by Kam Chin, the editor of the Chinese newspaper. He asked that Lau Chung, of the Wing Wo Tai Company, be made chairman of the meeting. This was done, with loud cheers.

In opening, Lau Chung stated the object of the meeting and named Chang Kim as English secretary and Chang Den Sing as Chinese secretary. Chung then said that the meeting was called to discuss the license law proposed by the Councils, in an orderly way, and learn what the sentiments of the leading Chinese residents were on the subject. It was not intended as a meeting against the Government, or intended to injure the Government in any way. The secretary then read a Chinese version of the proposed law, and interspersed it with explanations of the more intricate parts. It was listened to by the big crowd with intense interest, but no demonstration was made at its close.

The chairman then introduced Ing Chan, of the Tong On Jan Company, who was received with cheers that shook the rafters. He spoke in Chinese as follows:

We came to these islands, some of us, over sixty years ago, and settled here. Up to ten years ago this Government treated us as equals; as men. They realized that, while the foreigners controlled the sugar plantations, the Chinese owned the rice fields and were entitled to a footing of equality with others. There are now over twenty thousand Chinese on the islands. Many of the white mechanics are opposed to our race, and yet we are, as far as we know, law abiders. We do not meddle with the politics of other foreigners. We have been patient up to now, for we have been treated well before, but for a few years past our treatment has been getting worse every year. Shall we put up with it? (Cries of No, No.) The Chinese here are of different occupations—merchants, mechanics and laborers—and they do good to the country. But the white people are not satisfied, and want to impose on us and pass laws that other countries would not think of. The cry of these islands now is the scarcity of cheap labor and the hard times, but these things are not our fault. We are treated like small children, and are not expected to understand anything. But we must not give up hope. I am sure that the day will come when our mother country will remember her desolate children. We in these islands are like one big family, and we must unite our forces. Let us send a communication to the Councils, asking them not to pass such a law. If they will not listen to us, let us instruct our representative here to communicate with the Chinese Minister at Washington and ask him to write the home government about our troubles. (Great applause.) Wong Wah Foy, of the Wing Wo Tai Company, was then introduced and said:

We are here to see if we are all of one mind in regard to this law. Many of us have been here for years, and have greatly improved the country by our efforts. The lands are worth much more through our efforts. Property that was not worth $5 an acre when we came here has by our energy been brought to the value of $40 and more. We have been oppressed long enough. The Government is not satisfied with what has been done, but wants to tie our hands still more. Shall we allow it? (Cries of No—No!) These foreigners do not remember their own scripture, which says "do unto others as you would they should do to you." They claim to be an enlightened people, but I say they are not, if they act in this way. (Cheers.) Unity is what we want and must have. Unity in mind and action. If we unite we will gain our point. (Cheers.) We must unite, but in a peaceful way. There must be no talk yet of a man-of-war settling our troubles for us. That may come later.

Ching Ling Him of the Hawaiian Hardware Company said: I have been in this country for fifteen years. We are not a better nor a worse class than any other. (Cheers.) We came here like birds and built our nests. We settled the land like peaceful citizens. If this law passes, no man can do any business except the one allowed him by law. The Chinese pay the most of the taxes, and were it not for us, the white merchants of Honolulu would be ruined. I am a clerk, but one of these days I may be a rich man. But not if this law passes and our race is treated worse than dogs. We do not break the laws, we are peaceful. We do not steal. Why do they want to make such laws against us? All we must do is to stick together and we will come out all right.

Chang Kim, a clerk in C. W. Ashford's office spoke as follows: FELLOW COUNTRYMEN:—We are here tonight because it is proposed by the Provisional Government of this country to place us under the ban, for the sole reason that we are Chinese, instead of being Portuguese. The Chinese in Hawaii, as well as in other countries, have been a very patient people, and have borne with much oppression that would have provoked opposition and even revolution, from almost any other race, and now, seeing how patient we have been under the injustice, it seems as though the Government have formed the opinion that no injustice they can heap upon us will be opposed or resented. But that is a mistake; "even a worm will turn when trodden upon," and so it may be with even the despised Chinese, should the oppression be carried too far. Is there any reason why one of God's creatures should be trampled upon by his brothers? Are we not all members of one great family? By what right do our white-skinned brothers assume to lord it over us, and to say that we shall do business, and trade, and live, and breathe, only by their consent? Is it only because our skins are brown while theirs are white? I hold that the Chinese of Hawaii should be judged by their behavior, and if they behave themselves no worse than their neighbors, they should be treated as well as their neighbors. The Government is glad enough to collect taxes from the Chinese, but when it comes to finding a class upon whom the spite of all the cranks shall be expended, they at once light upon the patient and long suffering Chinaman. We ask for only justice, and should accept nothing less. The Hawaiian Constitution declares that the Government is established for the equal benefit of all men and all classes, but if the Chinese License Act shall pass, it will show that the Government intends to deny to us the equal benefit of the laws. The Geary Act, in the United States, is bad enough,
